To Whom it May Concern

Her International is a registered Canadian charity with a mission to provide educational opportunities and sustainable life skills to marginalized women and children.

As part of our work, we developed a social initiative called "Unako" "उनको" which means "for her" in Nepalese. These mothers of Tharu families whose meager income formerly depended on agricultural work now manage a small sewing and jewellery workshop. They proudly call themselves "Unako ladies". Not only did they obtain financial independence, but also a sense of dignity that they did not believe was possible.

We are writing to show you our Unako scarves and jewellery in hopes that you will consider a wholesale purchase.

Please see the attached sheet with pictures and pricing info.

Warm Regards,

Tamara Kate

SCARVES

Since its inception, Her International has used scarves as a means of financing. Originally, they came from a shop in the Nepalese capital, but in 2012 Her bought the necessary equipment and formed a group of ethnically Tharu mothers to make and supply the scarves from where our programs are based: in Dang, Nepal.

JEWELLERY

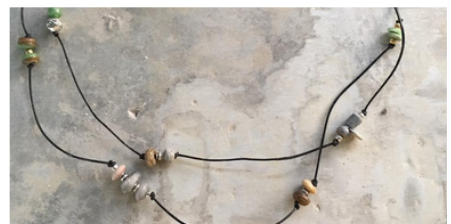

In 2017, the stunning Unako Jewellery line was launched. Beads are made from recycled glass bottles found on the road sides in Dang, Nepal. They are crushed into a mud mold and fired to harden. The result is the beautiful, unique beads you see below. We carry earrings, necklaces and bracelets.
